JAMES EDGAR'S BATTLE WITH IMBECILES.

A Berkeley Man Assailed by Eight Inmates of Glen Ellen.

In His Capacity as Guard He Stops a Wholesale Out Break

James Edgar, son of Mrs. Silvershield of Telegragh avenue is recovering from the effects of a desperate battle with eight inmates of the Glen Allen home for the feeble minded where "Jimmy" is employed as a guard.

Last Sunday the patients in question, all of whom are able bodied young men made a break for liberty.

Edgar who happened to be the only guard in the vicinity attempted to capture the runaways and immediately found himself in a serious predicament as the escapes made a desperate attempt to kill him. The Berkeleyan was knocked down, and beaten in a shocking manner. "Jimmy" is game however, and managed to disable four of his assailants, the others being subsequently captured by the other guards.

Edgar's chief injuries are a cut and bruised eye, and a battered nose. He was confined to his bed until last Tuesday, when it was decided to send him to his home until he recovers.

A Large and Enthusiastic Audience Present Last Evening.

The Young Musicians Played With Excellent Skill and Taste

The concert which was given in Shattuck hall by the High School Orchestra and Mandolin club last evening, was in every respect worthy the large and enthusiastic audience which was present.

The young musicians rendered the numbers on the program with effectiveness and appreciation, while Principal Waterman scored a marked success as leader.

To the California Quartet and Professor Newton are due the thanks of the High school pupils. The quartet was in excellent voice, while Professor Newton, who is one of California's leading recitationists, convulsed the audience with his rendition of "The Spanish Duel" and "On the Wheel."

SHALL THE CITY BE BONDED?

Interviews With Citizens Regarding an Important Measure.

Suggestions and Opinions as to the Proposed New Schools.

Following is a list of interviews and opinions which the GAZETTE is publishing daily in regard to the advisability of bonding the City for $75,000 of which amount $60,000 will be expended for the purchase of a site and the erection of a new school building, the balance for a site and the construction of a Grammar School at North Berkeley:

W. H. H. Gentry—I have voted for the bonds twice and see no reason why I should not do so again.

Frank Fowden—I am in favor of the bonds by all means.

J. M. Oliver—I am decidedly in favor of the bonds.

A. B. Quackenbush—Yes, I will vote in favor of the bonds.

J. Jacobs—I am most decidedly in favor of bonding the city. We cannot have too many schools.

Robert Creelman—If there is any necessity for more school facilities we might as well secure them.

George Stricker—Berkeley is bonded sufficiently. I will vote against the proposition.

W. Dietz—Put me down as favoring the measure.

H. J. Squires—I am in favor of bonding the City for a High School, but I think the site should be somewhere south of Shattuck avenue unless there is room for the new build ing and the old on the Center street site.

B. W. Taylor—I am not opposed to the bonds, but I believe the new building should be located on the present site.

L. Koch—I am not a taxpayer and have no children who attend school, and therefore I feel a hesitancy about expressing an opinion. However, I would like to see a new High School erected.

Theo. Peterson, the painter, who resides in the Scenic Park Tract, is rapidly convalescing from a two weeks' illness brought on by overwork and a severe cold.

Italy has indorsed the candidacy of Prince George, and it is believed that the Sultan will eventually.

SMALL BOY MATCHES AND WASTE PAPER.

The Combination Occasions an Incipient Blaze This Morning.

Chief Kenny, Foreman Thompson and the Columbia's Take a Record.

An alarm was turned in at ten o'clock this morning for a blaze in a passage way through the rear of the Morgan block at the corner of Shattuck avenue and Center street. Chief Kenny and Foreman Thompson of the Alert Hose Company who were first on the scene found a barrel of paper blazing fiercely, while the flames were running up the rear of the building. The two men hurled the blazing barrel into the street and extinguished the flames on the building with a few buckets of water.

The Columbia fireboys made great time in going to the fire. In fact the boys had their cart on the scene, the hose attached to a hydrant and were ready for action in three and one half minutes after the alarm was sounded.

It is supposed the blaze was occasioned by a small boy.

This is the third fire in the block within a few weeks, and the second that was caused by that dangerous combination—waste paper barrel and lighted cigarette.

THE SILVER CAUSE WEAKENING.

It is quite apparent that the silver cause is not commanding the strength and unanimity of support that it did in the campaign of 1896. The New York Journal, which was Mr. Bryan's organ in the East, has deliberately abandoned him, as was long ago anticipated. This means more than the mere action of this journal, for a change of that kind would not have been made unless those dictating it had seen that the plan would be a popular one. The fact is, there is a strong rebellion against Bryan and Bryanism in the East and certain parts of the South. Word comes from the Middle West that this sentiment is also being felt there. The silver proposition is losing its hold upon a large class of the communities which in the last national campaign supported it, in view of the fact that prosperity has come without the adoption of free coinage, and they have begun to realize that the issues upon which the campaign of 1896 was made were false ones. The assertion was constantly made during all that campaign that prosperity could not come to the people of the United States without an enormous increase of the currency of the country, and that this could only be done by the free coinage of silver. Now that the prosperity has come in the face of the refusal to accept the silver proposition, it is apparent that the campaign of 1896 was waged upon false assumptions and false statements.

AS I LOOK AT IT.

Editor Gazette: I reckon everybody has had his say about the appearance of the University Cadets at the parade last Monday, except those who are, or ought to be, the best judges.

The San Francisco papers as usual devote columns to a lot of hoodlums, the very scum of the town, because their parents, city toughs, now have votes, and the hoodlums will have if they are not hung before they attain their majority, but can devote but two of their sticks of space to the finest body of young men who ever appeared upon the horrible streets of the most egotistical city in America. I have observed the marching of more than a quarter of a million men, from the awkward squad composed of back-woods yakels, to the 7th Regiment of New York, and the veterans of a hundred battles, and I never saw a finer appearing body of young men in my life, nor as careful, accurate military movements by any body of men, with the same amount of drilling.

It was a common remark by officers of the Regular Army and Veterans of the G. A. R. that the U. C. Cadets in every particular which goes to make an ideal soldier were even far and away ahead of any organization in the line of parade, except the regular army itself. I wonder if the time will ever come when metropolitan journalism will be represented by something worthier than the Daily Hearst, the Daily Spreckles or the Daily Mickey, and when a body of six hundred young Americans will receive at least a decent notice. Veteran.

THE HIGH SCHOOL SITE

Editor Gazette: Permit a subscriber who yields to none in anxiety to improve the educational facilities of Berkeley, to enter a decided protest against the voting of bonds to erect a new High school building so far from the center of the City, as I understand the new plan contemplates. If the new building is to be a permanent and lasting structure, if it is to provide for the education of the youth of the twentieth century as well as for the youth of these fin de siecle nineteenth century days, the building should at least be in close proximity to the Greater University of California, the University as it is to be when the Great Grand Plan shall have been consummated.

By all means let Berkeley's new High School raise its impressive front where the humbler building now stands on the avenue of approach to the site where half a century hence the magnificent architectural monument to Regent Hearst's generosity shall unite seekers of wisdom from every part of the State. Let the Berkeley High School in its more moderate magnificence, symbolize the stepping stone from the lower to the higher level of learning, a model institution of secondary education as the new University of California shall be the pattern for higher educational institutions all over the United States.

The Game of Mancala.

The game of mancala may be said to be the national game of Africa. It is most closely associated with that continent. It is found among all the tribes and is an evidence of the essential unity that underlies all the African races. Among the Abyssinians it is played by all classes, from the king to the peasant. It is the favorite amusement of the negroes at Benin, on the west coast. It is well known among the natives of Bombay, in Java, in Ceylon, in the Maldive islands and in the Malay peninsula. In Syria and Palestine cup marked stones used in this game are not infrequently found in old ruins. It is played by the Druses with holes made in a plank of wood, and this is the common form of the instrument in Jerusalem and throughout Syria, where it may be seen continually played in the cafes by the visitors. The children in Egypt, Nubia and Syria play it in holes excavated in the ground, and when two travelers meet on the way they frequently rest and extemporize a board of holes dug in the hard path and proceed to play with the pebbles they gather on the spot.

In Palestine and Egypt the shells used in the game are brought from the shores of the Red sea, while in Damascus pebbles are employed which pilgrims collect in a certain valley on the way home from Mecca. Games of hazard are prohibited by the Mohammedan religion, but mancala is considered a game of fate or skill and is therefore tolerated, and in all likelihood it is diffused by the pilgrimages from Mecca throughout the Mohammedan world to the utmost limits of Arab culture.—Good Words.

Soap.

The first distinct mention of soap now extant is by Pliny, who speaks of it as an invention of the Gauls, but be that as it may the use of soap for washing purposes is of great antiquity. In the ruins of Pompeii a complete soap manufactory was found, and the utensils and some soap were in a tolerable state of preservation. The Gallic soap of 18 centuries ago was prepared from fat and wood ashes, particularly the ashes from beech wood, which wood was very common in France, as well as in England. Soap is spoken of by writers in the second century, but the Saracens were the first people to bring it into general use as an external cleansing medium. The use of soap is thus described: "When examined chemically, the skin is found to be composed of a substance analogous to dried white of egg—in a word, albumen. Now, albumen is soluble in the alkalies, and when soap is used for washing the skin the excess of alkali combines with the oily fluid with which the skin is naturally bedewed, removes it in the form of an emulsion, and with it a portion of the dirt. Another portion of the alkali softens and dissolves the superficial stratum of the skin, and when this is rubbed off the rest of the dirt disappears. So that every washing of the skin with soap removes the old face of the skin, and leaves a new one, and were the process repeated to excess the latter would become attenuated."—New York Ledger.

A Fatal Oversight.

Recently the wife of an Atlanta man told him she wanted two newspapers that were published in different states. He had no change about him, so she gave him 10 cents with which to purchase them.

He went forth, but on the way bethought him of the clipping bureau, where, he argued, he could get the papers for nothing. So he invested the money in a good cigar, obtained the papers when the clipping man was through with them and returned home.

On opening the papers his wife discovered that two items had been clipped from one and four from another, and then there was trouble.

It was in vain that he tried to explain. In fact, he couldn't explain. The more he stammered out excuses the more his wife's curiosity was aroused.

The next morning when he appeared down town his head was bandaged and he looked ill.

He is now consulting a lawyer as to the advisability of suing the clipping bureau for damages.—Atlanta Constitution.

A Lafayette Relic.

One of the most curious and valuable of the relics of General Lafayette, the great Frenchman who cast his fortunes with America when the battle for independence was at its height, is in the possession of the family of W. G. Griffin of Los Angeles.

When Lafayette came to this country, he was entertained by a Colonel Griffin and was so touched by the attention shown him that he presented his host with a rare and beautiful ring which had been placed on his finger by Louis XIV, to whom he admitted allegiance before sailing for America.

The ring is a marquise, with a setting about an inch long and fully half an inch wide.—San Francisco Call.

Refining.

"Music," said the eminent pianist, as the reporter to whom he had kindly accorded an interview ran his pencil rapidly over the paper, "is the most elevating of sciences. It refines the sensibilities and enlarges the heart. It—what were you about to ask?"

"I should like to know, sir, how you regard the distinguished pianist Professor von Bergstein as a musician?"

"He is nothing, sir, but a cheap, vile imitator, a base counterfeit, a tenth rate keyboard banger, sir," exclaimed the eminent musician, scowling.—Strand Magazine.

A Mitigating Circumstance.

"You plead guilty," said the court. "Is there any reason why I should not give you the full penalty?"

"Yas, sah, yo' honah. Dat was the skinniest turkey ebah I lifted, sah."—Detroit Free Press.

Miss Goodgirl—What are you thinking of so intently?

Young Gayboy—Well, if you must know I was thinking what the result would be if I should suddenly grab you and kiss you.

Miss Goodgirl—Oh, Mr. Gayboy, how terrible for you to have such thoughts when my brother and father are both out, my mother sick in bed upstairs and no one in the world who could possibly come to my assistance!—Harlem Life.

He Won the Day.

Dr. John Bachman, a beloved minister in Charleston not much over 20 years ago, was fond of music. Moreover, he had an excellent means of managing a church choir, one which other clergymen might use with good effect.

In his early student life the singing was very bad in the old church of which he was a member. He set to work with the zeal of youth and the enthusiasm belonging to his own character to reform this undesirable state of things, and having mustered a large class procured a singing master to lead it.

The congregation soon began to take delight in the result, and Bachman watched his class with great satisfaction, not at all alloyed by the discovery that his own voice proved neither true nor sweet, though it was a most agreeable one in speaking.

But his choir was not flawless. Its members fell out, and one Sunday when the pastor gave out the hymn an ominous silence reigned. John Bachman waited a moment in deep anxiety. Then, with his ever present and self forgetful desire to help, he rose in his seat and began to raise the tune.

That was enough. The singers smiled and chimed in by one consent as lustily as if they had no greater desire than to drown his willing but discordant voice. He smiled also and gave them the floor and never did he cease to enjoy the situation.

"My class was afraid of my bad singing," he would say to his grandchildren, a humorous look stealing into his eyes. "So I won the day."—Youth's Companion.

Good Friends.

In a cavalry troop there generally grows up between each horse and his rider a strong bond of sympathy and friendship. Soldiers in the cavalry service are in most cases stationed at remote western posts, where, far from home and friends and as a rule unmarried, they are necessarily very limited in their companionship and amusements. On this account, perhaps, the propensity for having pets of various kinds is very strongly developed and increases the sense of fellowship between the horses and their riders. Cruelty or inattention to the wants of their horses is a rare trait among cavalrymen, and even should this be the case from the feeling of proprietorship cruelty from one soldier to the horse of another would be resented as an injury to the owner himself.

This comradeship is more in evidence upon a long march or while in the field engaged upon arduous or dangerous duties. On such occasions, when forage often becomes scarce, cavalry soldiers will jealously guard every grain that their horses receive, and should the sergeant through carelessness or prejudice give a trifle more or less to one than the other it often provokes a vast deal of grumbling, so closely is the trooper interested in the welfare of his horse.—Lippincott's Magazine.

Foy and the Lunatic.

Eddie Foy, the comedian, spent a summer vacation at his old home in central New York. One day as he was strolling past the large insane asylum that stands on the outskirts of the town he was startled by a low "Hist!" and on looking up saw one of the worst heads that ever came under his gaze peering over the wall. Eddie was not frightened, for he did not think the maniac could scale the wall, but he quickened his pace. He had proceeded but a short distance when he heard a scrambling, and on looking saw that the madman had climbed over the wall and was following him. Eddie walked fast, but the maniac, who was an immense fellow, with a face that wore a demoniac look, walked faster. Foy trotted a little, and the madman trotted after him. Eddie finally broke into a run and was horrified to see that his pursuer was not only running also, but was gaining steadily. Eddie is not much of a sprinter, but on this occasion he made remarkable time, but soon Foy could hear the labored breathing of his pursuer and felt that he could make no further effort. Just as he was about to faint from exhaustion the maniac reached forward, touched him gently on the shoulder and said: "Tag! You're it."—San Francisco Argonaut.

Offered Him Five Cents.

The force of habit sometimes manifests itself in peculiar ways, says the Chicago Times-Herald. A young woman entered an elevator in one of Chicago's high buildings and when she reached the eleventh floor tendered the elevator man a fee of 5 cents.

"What is this for, miss?" he asked in some surprise.

"It is for my fare."

"But I don't collect fare."

The young woman looked bewildered.

"Aren't you the conductor?" she asked.

"I am the conductor of this elevator."

"O-h-h!" said the girl as if awaking from a trance. "I am so accustomed to paying car fare that I forgot I was not on a street car."

And she took back her 5 cents and smiled as if she enjoyed the mistake.

Nineveh was 15 miles by 9, the walls 100 feet high and thick enough for three chariots to drive abreast.

The wearing of orange blossoms as a bridal decoration originated in the days of the crusaders.

CALIFORNIA'S GOLDEN JUBILEE AND MINING FAIR

GRAND CELEBRATION

SAN FRANCISCO

JANUARY 24TH 98.

SEMI-CENTENNIAL DISCOVERY OF GOLD.

MINING FAIR OPENS JAN. 29TH

Mining and Outfitting PRACTICALLY ILLUSTRATED.

THE MINING FAIR

MECHANICS' PAVILION

Saturday, January 29 to Saturday, March 6, 1898

OPEN FROM 2 TO 10:30 P. M.

The 50th anniversary of the discovery of gold in California will be not only fittingly celebrated by its Golden Jubilee, but by one of the grandest and most complete exhibitions of mining and outfitting ever seen in the world. This Fair will possess the merits of originality, instructive and practical features.

There will be a mammoth pictorial and genuine representation of a hydraulic mine in operation; every modern piece of machinery used in all forms of mining in operation; complete display of ores, minerals, and soil formations, and many novel mining experimental features shown for the first time at this Mining Fair.

The natural resources of California will be shown in the big exhibit of the State Board of Trade, and many official and private collections and exhibits of ores and minerals will give added interest to this wonderful Exposition.

The history of our State will be fittingly and graphically outlined by exhibits of relics, curios, photographs, paintings, books, papers, etc., all kindly loaned by societies and individuals. This feature of the Fair is worth special attention, and the management solicits other loans, where possible. The exhibit of the State Mining Board will also prove interesting.

The Klondike Outfitting Department possesses interest beyond the ordinary, for the majority of food products, evaporated fruits, vegetables, and the clothing, cooking utensils, means of transportation, etc., of miners' outfits as shown, are of California, and the moneys expended therefore remain not alone among our manufacturers and artisans, but aid and benefit the farmer and fruit grower. One half of the main floor is given over to this department.

The attractions besides those named are splendid band concerts, both afternoons and evenings, Klondike cooking lectures, free exhibition daily of Edison's Projectoscope, and new animated pictures illustrating Pacific Coast scenes, European views, Eastern moving pictures, Klondike scenes, comical views, with lectures; a Klondike wedding, Cornish miners' wrestling matches, rock drill contests, international cake walks, baby shows, opening civic reception, living pictures, trips through the great underground tunnel, shaft and ore chambers, nationality days, school children's programs, State Press Association day, interior excursion days, in fact the special features and attractions will be new, novel, well carried out, and on a magnificent scale throughout.

The admission has been wisely fixed at the reasonable price of 25 cents; children, 15 cents; and the railways will make special excursion rates. These can be obtained by applying to your station agent. The various counties will make creditable exhibits, and every man, woman, and child in California has an interest in making this Mining Fair a success. The hotels in San Francisco will make specially low Fair rates, and these can be obtained by writing to the Hotel Committee, 31 Post street, also a list of hotels and boarding houses.

Don't forget the dates—Jan. 24th to 28th for Golden Jubilee Celebration and Jan. 29th to March 6th for Mining Fair.

NEWS AND NOTES ABOUT COLLEGE.

Doings of Faculty and Student Body.

The plowing on the campus in front of South Hall, which has aroused so much curiosity during the last few days, is for the purpose of planting grass. The experiment was tried eight or ten years ago, but proved unsuccessful owing to the rocky character of the ground.

Homer Boushey and Fielding Stillson, both of 01, have recently joined the Phi Delta Theta.

The Co-operative Store is about to begin a series of special sales of works by the professors of the University.

McClure Gregory and F. H. Freman, both of 01, have recently joined Phi Gamma Delta.

The course of art lectures now being given in Alameda by Professor Ardley will hereafter be continued every Friday evening at Tucker Hall, corner of Park street and Santa Clara avenue, instead of at the Central Block as heretofore, owing to the increased attendance overflowing the accommodations at the latter place.

Good Glasses.

In having your eyes tested for glasses you should consult an optician who is capable of telling you whether it is glasses you need or treatment by an oculist. And should it be glasses fit your eyes with those that will assist you and give comfort. Some people are wearing glasses fitted by an incompetent optician or having bought them in a store much the same one would buy a pair of shoes. Such is wrong. Should you need good glasses consult Chas. H. Wood, optician, for nearly four years, at 1001 Washington street, Oakland, where your eyes will receive the proper attention due them.

Mr. Wood also sells The Ray Cameras which are giving excellent satisfaction for the clearness of their work. They are reasonable in price, $2.50, $5.00 and $6.00. Photo supplies, developing and printing of the best kind.

BACKACHE

makes the young feel old, and the old feel that life is not worth the living. It's a danger signal of Kidney Disease—the unerring evidence of weak, inactive and sore Kidneys. Any person cured of Kidney weakness will tell you that when the back ceased to ache, all troubles ended. Neither liniments, nor plasters, nor electricity can cure it. The seat of the trouble is not in the skin, flesh or muscles. It's in the Kidneys.

It can be

"It affords me great pleasure to inform you that your Sparagus Kidney Pills have worked wonders in curing me of a kidney affection from which I have suffered great pain and inconvenience for many months. The first doses of your pills caused the excruciating pains in my back to disappear, and after using three boxes, I can safely say that I am entirely cured of my disorder and am as healthy as any man can wish to be."
